

ACTCS

Supervision

Updated: Thu, 30 Sep 2010 10:13:39 +1000

Printed: Sun, 20 May 2018 19:44:13 +1000

Revision: 7

The Courts and other authorities (such as the Sentence Administration Board) can release offenders subject to the supervision of ACT Corrective Services. These offenders are allocated a Probation and Parole Officer and are required to report at designated times for the duration of the Order.

The conditions of the supervision are outlined in the Order, and these form the basis of a Rehabilitation Plan. The offender is required to obey all reasonable directions of their Probation and Parole Officer to address their offending behaviours. Some requirements of supervision can include:

- To attend at a pathology collection centre for urinalysis testing
- Referral to ACTCS Corrections Programs Unit to undertake a therapeutic or educational program
- Referral to external treatment providers to address issues such as violence, anger, alcohol and other drug abuse, or mental health treatment.